

Blog

Listed by date

- July 2007
- June 2007
- May 2007
- April 2007
- March 2007

◀ Previous entry: the day I br...

05 July

the day where stupidity rules in sillypore

...if only i can comment...yet knowing it would be quite impossible to walk out without feeling like an idiot, hence, i've forced myself to bow out, watching on the willing idiots putting up a show. a day where a bunch of ignorant fools claiming superoirty over logics. a day where fatass claimed the right as the offical loreal's spokesperson, thinking she's worth it. a day where a blabby fool thought she was a royalty. a day where all logics gone to the bin. a day where Freedom of speech is once again the hot topic. once again, the uses of languages, expressions displays on non-mainstream media is under tight scrutiny.

One loco example of a sillyporean:

A has posted some articles online which caused B to take exception. A had since removed the posting while B had made a duplication of the posting and posted it online. B then claimed to reserve the rights for legal actions. Ironic of the case: B clearly wanted the posting to be removed by suing A yet posted it up himself when the original posting was removed by A. B then tried to manipulate the situation by saying he had caught a glimpse of the posting before the removal took place while all the time, it could only be considered an untimely malfunction-exposure. At the same time, B called A names in online media and expect to walk off like an angel. Apparently B was not thinking or did not have the capability to do so.

- a day when friendship is tested.
- a day when common sense overrules mere emotions.
- a day when laughing stock is splashes all over the place.
- a day where the photos of fatass looking ridiculous in wedding gown were found.
- a day where abortion deem as the only solution by some young ugly punk.
- a day where craziness over spills.
- a day where one insisted on mental unstability is not equal to mad but merely a shaky mentality.
- a day where one sees the true picture.

oh man. i cant wait for the day to be over.

clause: oh alright, this article is fictional. should anyone resemblances any of the characters mentioned, is merely a coincidence. this is not a form of commercialized information nor advertisement. this is merely a piece of a vivid imagination.

17:52 | Add a comment | Send a message | Trackbacks \(0\) | Blog it | diary